PENTECOST SUNDAY

The Day of Pentecost ~ Sunday, May 20

Break out your “Red” because the Day of Pentecost is coming! Sunday, May 20, is Pentecost Sunday, the day the church celebrates the indwelling of the Holy Spirit. The Holy Spirit nourishes and sustains us for our journeys of faith. The Holy Spirit strengthens us and emboldens us to share the stories of faith which constitute the Good News of the Gospel. The Word will be preached, and the Lord’s Supper will be celebrated as we welcome the Holy Spirit into our midst!

From Pastor Kent's Desk

I received an interesting question the other day regarding preaching. The questioner wanted to know what constitutes “Biblical Preaching.” My short answer was that biblical preaching is preaching which uses the scriptures of the Old and New Testaments as its basis. That’s not a dismissive answer. I mean that sincerely. Preachers aren’t supposed to make it up as they go along. Preaching is a “sacred art,” a “sacred calling.” Preaching has serious ramifications: it can literally save lives.

It has been said that the preacher’s task is to “afflict the comfortable,” and “comfort the afflicted.” The Bible, when read critically, is a “radical” book. That is, it affects the fundamental nature of our belief systems. Read critically, the Bible changes us at our core. We no longer experience the world in the same way. The Good News of the Gospel brings hope of salvation and new life in Christ for ourselves and for the least, lost, last, and the lonely in our midst. Jesus saves us, and Jesus calls us.

...the preacher’s task is to “afflict the comfortable,” and “comfort the afflicted.”

The preacher’s task is to interpret the scriptures of both the Old and New Testaments in such a way that the hearers can begin to engage the world new ways. Theologian Karl Barth said, “Take your Bible and take your newspaper, and read both. But interpret newspapers from your Bible.” That’s an important knowing, especially in the age of “fake news!” In other words, the question for Christians becomes: “How do we respond to the world around us from a “biblical” perspective?”

A dear friend of mine, The Rev. Dr. Jim White, Campus Pastor at the University of California, Riverside, said that understanding the Bible is easy: The Old Testament is focused on “justice,” while the New Testament is focused on “love.” Therefore, good preachers always have their eyes fixed firmly on those two coordinates.

Conscientious preaching focuses our attention on both justice and love.

Conscientious preaching focuses our attention on both justice and love. It’s a “both/and,” not an “either/or” proposition. Good preaching doesn’t let the hearer off the hook. The issues which face our nation, our world, and our lives are too complex, too all-encompassing, to be left unaddressed by a good preacher. And there’s the rub, isn’t it? Faithful preaching can at times make us feel very uncomfortable. What we want: Give me my newspaper or give me my Bible, but don’t expect me to hold them both in tension. We want our preaching to “comfort us,” not “afflict us.”

....because righteous living is concerned with justice and love.

Good, conscientious preaching does both, because righteous living is concerned with justice and love. You can’t have one without the other. So, when you feel yourself squirming in your pew once in a while, don’t fret. It simply means that good “Biblical Preaching” is taking place in the pulpit. The God of justice and love is in our midst!
